PROFILE

I am an enthusiastic dentist experienced in both public health and private practices. I am passionate to help and treat underserved communities with my vast public health experience, including providing preventive education and necessary resources to influence their habits, and help them succeed in their lives. I am also experienced in managing patients independently, including examinations, diagnoses and treatment for a diverse patient population. I am a skilled team player who understands the importance of collaborative care for the best treatment outcomes for patients, and committed to provide the best patient care through communication and high-quality service.
